Miss Mae Day Should Score in Get-Away Feature at Delmar.

MAE DAY TO WIN
GET-AWAY FEATURE

Elliott Mare Seems Capable of Securing Long End of Purse at Delmar.

GAY FILLY MAY SCORE.

Footlights Favorite Is in the Distance Handicap at a Nice Weight—Seven Races
on the Card.

Seven races are offered to the patrons of Delmar for get-away day, the features of which will be two handicaps, one at six furlongs and the other at a mile and an eighth.

In the six-furlong event Miss Mae Day seems the best, with Edith May second and Malster third. In Miss Mae Day's last race, which was a mile and seventy yards, she led for six furlongs and then tired, as she was probably a bit short.

To-day the feature is six furlongs, and it right, she can easily win.

It looks as if she can either score by running in front or coming from behind.
Burnett's filly, Edith May, is in here with only ninety-four pounds, and she will certainly take some beating, as she is very speedy, but will have all she can do to get the place from Malster.

The latter's last race, which was a second to Gay Lazzette, was excellent, and he seems to be getting good again. At his best, he is a dangerous factor in this race.
The others seem to have small chance and it looks like a three-horse race.

In the distance handicap, Footlights favorite, after her race of Saturday, seems the winner, with Lavin second and Malster third. Footlights takes off two pounds from Saturday, when she finished a game second, beaten only a head by Protection.

She is speedy and should lead the way.
Lavin is a very slow beginner, but, as the race is at a mile and one-eighth, she should get up in time to get the place from Malster.

St. Tammany and Hippocrates are two new comers, both of which have been performing at Kansas City. Both are good horses when ready, but as it is their first out on the local track, they must be pumped up.

Pierce J. closed strongly in his last race and finished a good third. As there is nothing in the first race, he should beat this bunch easily.

The second race is one of the hardest of the day, eight of the twelve entries having good chances to win. Dameron, from the stable of Tom Hayes, is a good colt, and has beaten better ones in the past.

He is a very good runner, and he has good racing luck he should win the race, with Wakeluf and Andagore looking to be the contenders. The Eve's last race was good and he has a chance.

Anna Davis looks best in the third race.
She has been in the field a big one, and she will be out in front, free of any interference, while the rest of the bunch will be bumping each other back in the rear.

She will return to this city and will have a good race, and she will be a secretary. Secretary Hachmeister will spend his next month or two in preparing the stakes of next season, and will later make a trip through the South to secure entries for next season.

Local horsemen will be divided between New Orleans and Hot Springs this year, the tracks at the latter place seeming to have a strong attraction for many of the owners of the horses.

The local contingent will be well represented in the official world at Hot Springs, which is to be the presiding judge and Judge Maginn will be handicapper and associate. Guy Fisher will be paddock judge.

This will give the track about as good a racing directorate as could be found in this section of the country. The two courses will alternate in their racing sessions, each taking half the dates. Both will be operated under Western Jockey Club sanction.

That a revival may be hoped for in British pugilistic affairs and that the English boxers may soon be able to hold their own in the international ring is the belief of Willie Fitzgerald, who has just fought Bob Russell, considered one of the best light weights in England to-day.

Fitzgerald fought Russell at Philadelphia last week and freely admits that he found the operation a far more serious opponent than he expected. Moreover, the skill shown at boxing on the part of the visiting pugilist was such as to agreeably surprise those at the ringside.

For almost a decade the ring of England has been in a comatose state. Fighting languished, comparatively little interest was taken in the game and the class of men who held titles was such as to make one wonder whether it was worth the trouble to fight for a title.

It was no trouble at all for an American fighter to go across the pond and clean up his class. Ten years ago Frank Craig, the Harlem coffee cooler, made the trip.
English boxing was just on the verge of that time, but he still believed that Craig would prove an easy victim for himself.

Not only the best British boxers, but every one in the business, were in the bust in which he was engaged, however.
The best English boxer, Peter Jackson, was held up as a witness by the experts of the English ring.

Peter Jackson had previously visited the country and had made himself exceedingly popular. Craig's last fight was a very close one, and he was soon attained prominence. That property was too much for him, and he was soon inferior in his work.

The success of Craig resulted in several pugilistic contests of the most interesting water. Some of the best men of this country made trips to the other side and all had good success. The most notable was Sandy Ferguson, who had utterly failed to set the American fight world on fire, and who now found no difficulty in making himself widely known.

MEET LOCAL SHOTS

Crosby, Gilbert and Tom Marshall to Appear in World's Fair Handicap.

EVENT IS SPECIAL FEATURE.

St. Louis Men Include Charley Spencer, John Cabanne and Joe O'Neill—Close Contest Should Result.

Local shots will have hard sailing in the World's Fair Handicap Shoot, which is to commence at DuPont Park to-morrow, entries having been received for the big event from W. R. Crosby, champion of the world, and from Tom Marshall, twice winner of the Grand American Handicap.

Manager Alec Mermoid of the DuPont Park Club received word yesterday that both experts would be sure competitors in the handicap, which will start Wednesday, on the second day of the shoot. An entry list of more than thirty has already been received, and it is believed that the competition will be closer than at any previous shoot in this city.

Fred Gilbert of Spirit Lake, Ia., one of the best-known shots in the country, will also be a competitor. Word to this effect was received when his entry came in, with a note stating that he would not miss this particular handicap on any account.

Opposed to this trio of experts and to some twenty more of the best-known wing shots in the country are about ten local men
